Construction

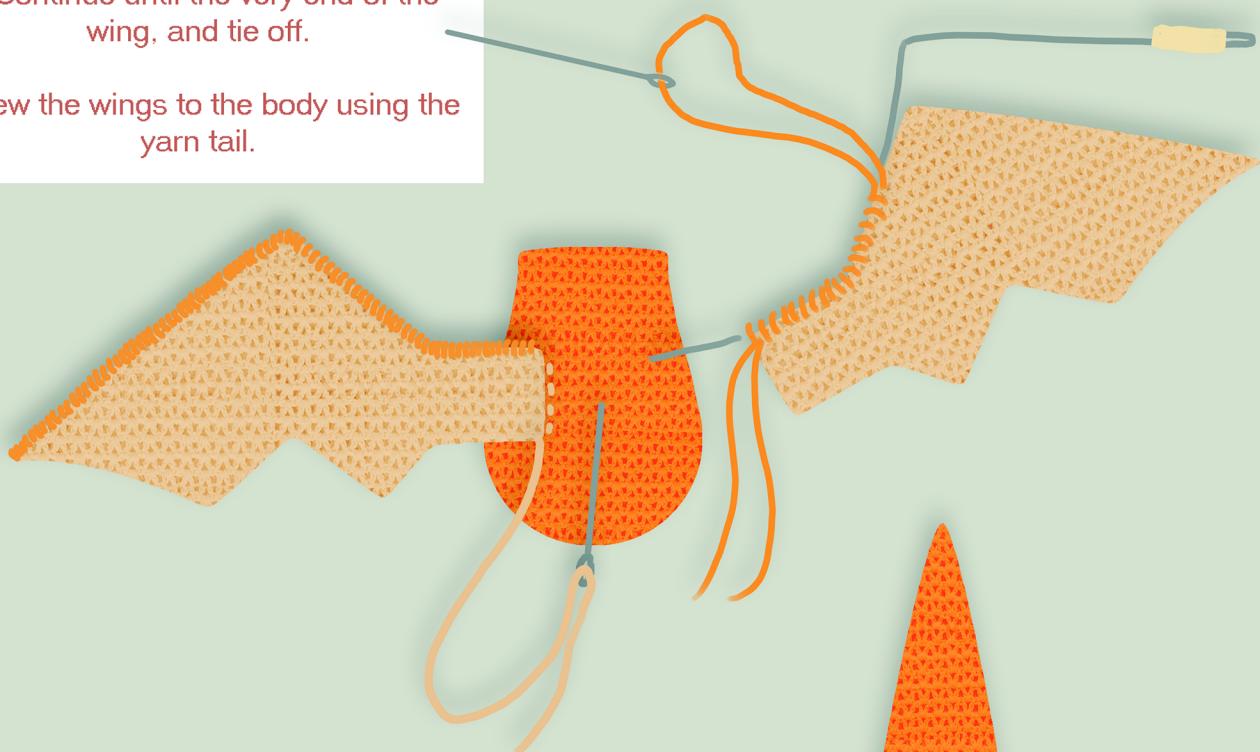

1. Cut a piece of wire long enough to span the length of both wings, and the width of the body combined, leaving an extra 2 inches. Bend one end of the wire with your pliers and wrap tightly with masking tape.

2. Cut a 3 foot long piece of tangerine yarn, and thread the tapestry needle. Start sewing the wing to the wire leaving a 2 inch tail. Sew through each stitch twice.

3. Once you have reached the end of the wing, thread remaining yarn back through the last 3-4 stitches and cut. Do the same with the 2 inch tail at the base of the wing.

4. Insert wire inbetween rows 15 and 16 on the body. Thread wire 3 stitches over, and poke it through the other end.
5. Repeat steps 2 and 3 until you have almost reached the end of the wing.
6. Cut off any extra wire, and bend the wire using pliers. Tightly wrap with masking tape.
7. Continue until the very end of the wing, and tie off.
8. Sew the wings to the body using the yarn tail.

Sew the remaining pieces together as shown in this diagram.
